22 Direction: Read the passage given below and answer the question that follows. There may be more than one question(s) based on the below passage.

23 Sociology is a discipline that delves into the study of society, its structures, institutions, and the interactions among individuals within it. It seeks to understand how individuals are influenced by larger social structures and how those structures are, in turn, shaped by the actions of individuals.

24 Socialisation is a lifelong process that starts from infancy and continues throughout our lives. It shapes our identities, beliefs, and behaviours, and helps us navigate the complexities of social life. It examines how societies evolve over time, adapting to new ideas, technologies, and challenges.

25 Social change can occur through gradual processes or as a result of collective action and social movements. By examining patterns of behaviour, social stratification, socialisation processes, and social change, sociology helps us comprehend the interconnectedness of individuals, groups, and societies. It offers valuable insights into the challenges and possibilities for creating more just, equitable, and inclusive societies.

26 Question: What is the primary focus of sociology as a discipline?

- 27 ☐ The study of society and its structures.
- 28 ☐ The study of historical events
- 29 ☐ The study of individual psychology
- 30 ☐ The study of natural sciences

Abbas (West Bank): Palestinian leaders Hamas and Fatah agreed to form a unity government after talks in Beijing on Tuesday. The pact, which was signed by the two groups' leaders, is seen as a major step towards ending the long-running conflict between the two groups. Hamas, which has been in control of Gaza since 2007, and Fatah, which has been in control of the West Bank since 1994, are the two main Palestinian groups. The pact was signed after a series of talks in Beijing, which were mediated by the Chinese government. The pact calls for the formation of a unity government, which would be responsible for the entire Palestinian territory. It also calls for the release of Palestinian prisoners held in Israel and the West Bank. The pact is seen as a major step towards ending the long-running conflict between the two groups. Amman (West Bank): Palestinian factions Hamas and Fatah agreed in Beijing to form a unity government. The move is seen as a landmark step in resolving a long-standing rivalry and offering a peaceful scenario for the rule of the war-torn Gaza Strip. Hamas, which has ruled the strip for 17 years, and Fatah, which has ruled the West Bank since the US-backed Jordanian Authority took over in 1988, have long been bitter rivals. The move was seen as a sign of progress in the peace process. However, some analysts are skeptical, noting that the two groups have a long history of conflict. Abbas (West Bank): Palestinian factions Hamas and Fatah agreed in Doha to form a unity government. The move was hailed by the international community as a step towards peace in the region. However, Israel's Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has expressed skepticism about the pact, stating that it does not address the core issues of the conflict. The Foreign Ministry has vowed to take action against Hamas if it is found to be involved in terrorism. The move has also been criticized by some within the Palestinian community who see it as a betrayal of the principles of the Oslo Accords.

Slams Pact, Sign Min Vows Crush Hamas

West Bank: Palestinian factions Hamas and Fatah agreed in Beijing to form a unity government, the groups said. In the latest development, a long-standing rift between the two groups is being bridged. The move is seen as a significant step towards peace in the region. The groups have been at odds for years, with Hamas being more militant and Fatah being more moderate. The new pact aims to bring them together under a single government. This move has been met with mixed reactions from the international community. Some see it as a positive step, while others are skeptical. The pact also includes a commitment to crush Hamas, which has been a major point of contention between the two groups.

Julian Assange, founder of WikiLeaks, is facing a trial in Sweden. He is accused of sexual offenses. The trial is expected to be a high-profile case. Assange has been in custody since he was arrested in London. He has been charged with rape and sexual coercion. The case has drawn significant attention from the media and the public. Assange's lawyers are fighting to get him released. They argue that the charges are unfounded. The trial is set to begin in the near future.

Other news items include a report on a new vaccine for COVID-19 and a story about a robot that can perform complex tasks. The vaccine is said to be highly effective and safe. The robot is a humanoid machine that can learn from its environment. It is being developed by a team of researchers at a leading university.
